The First Dedicated IO Cluster in Singapore

Located at Kay Siang road, Tanglin International Centre is situated along 'Embassy Row', the diplomatic centre of Singapore. With proximity and accessibility to key business districts, shopping, leisure and F&B outlets, this landmark development project will house IOs in a dedicated cluster.

With up to 60 office units, Tanglin International Centre offers competitive rental rates and shared facilities, creating a conducive and supportive environment for the IO community.

* Map not drawn to scale

	Gross floor area	Office space	Occupation dates
Strathmore Building	2400 sq m	1200 sq m	October 2009
Tanglin Building	2100 sq m	1100 sq m	End 2009
Tower Block	Approx. 12000 sq m	TBC	2011 (Estimate)

Charming location steeped in heritage

Tanglin International Centre consists of conservation buildings from the 1970s. With old-school character and a tinge of modern edge, the cluster retains and preserves the original architecture of the retrofitted buildings.

Fostering interaction and collaboration

The first of its kind in Singapore, Tanglin International Centre is a platform for IOs to network, share expertise and explore collaborations.

Shared facilities include meeting areas, conference rooms, outdoor gazebos and pantries. Alternative spaces are also available for events and gatherings of approximately 50 people.

At the heart of a city alive

Nestled at the fringe of the city with proximity to several embassies and the Central Business District, it facilitates meetings and puts other administrative resources within close reach.

Singapore's main shopping district, Orchard Road, and vibrant lifestyle clusters such as Dempsey Hill, Tanglin Village and Boat Quay are also in the vicinity.

The Tanglin International Centre is also close to the Botanical Gardens, where several environmental IOs are located, as well as Heng Mui Keng Terrace and Bukit Timah Road, home to a vibrant cluster of think tanks.

With the convenience of a public bus stop right at the door step, and the Mass Rapid Transit minutes away, IOs can get around with ease.

International Organisations Programme
Office (IOPO)

IOPO provides international organisations one-stop facilitation and information in setting up operations in Singapore. We will also continue to assist with the organisations' needs after they are established in Singapore.

The IO Programme Office is a multi-agency set-up led by the Economic Development Board in partnership with the Monetary Authority of Singapore (MAS), the Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MFA) and the Singapore Tourism Board (STB). It is supported by various ministries and agencies throughout the government.
